and "most of the seven people rescued alive, from the cold water were saved by the locals who rushed them to Murshidabad Medical College Hospital.

Even as the NDRF and the State Disaster Management Group joined rescue operations much late in the day along with Fire Brigade personnel the angry locals pelted stones and torched a vehicle for their late entry prompting police to lathicharge and tear gas the unruly mob, police officials said.

Four heavy-duty cranes were pressed into service. "As the bus fell right in the middle of the canal which is as big as a river it was difficult for the cranes to pull it out," district officials said.

Village-level Water Budget planned for Andhra Pradesh

CM Naidu decides 116-day programme

V SUDHAKAR RAO ■
AMARAVATI

Much before the summer and the monsoon, the Andhra Pradesh Government has planned "Village-Level Water Budget" across the State. Accordingly, Chief Minister Chandra Babu Naidu has announced a special programme for 116 days starting from February to June.

The proposed programme will be held under the "Neeru Pragathi" to promote water conservation, repair of all canals and replenishing groundwater.

In a meeting on State Water Resources Development held on Monday, Officials from AP Space Application Centre explained to the Chief Minister that they will use information on rainfall, runoff, demand, MI and WC capacity, soil type, and other factors to plan water conservation on a village-level basis. This will be under Village-Level Water Budget Planning, and rainwater harvesting structures have been proposed in different pockets across the state.

The Chief Minister said that they should study the impact of rainfall, MI tanks and irrigation on ground water. "If we can ensure that there is surplus in agricultural production by increasing groundwater levels, then we can say we were successful", he said.

He said the departments should work with the goals of maximum extent of irrigation for both the rabi and kharif seasons.

from the State-run JJ Hospital and left for his hometown of Dhule in north Maharashtra on Monday afternoon.

Jr Patil, who had refused to take his father's body till the State Government announced adequate compensation and declared his father as a martyred farmer, called off his agitation, after State Energy Minister Chandrashekhar Bawankule contacted him and assured him that his demands would be met.

Subsequently, the Minister handed Jr Patil over a letter promising adequate compensation for the land taken from his family.
